The Task Force on Race, Indigeneity, and Social Justice at UBC's Faculty of Education, one of the world's leading faculties of its kind, invites applications and nominations for the position of Part-time Research Associate.

Job Title: Research Associate (Part-time 50%)

Unit, Department or School: Office of the Dean

Areas of Expertise: Social justice and Indigeneity, Mixed methods for survey, Interview and document data

Compensation Range: $22,000 to $35,000 CDN for a period of seven months, part-time (50%), depending on the qualifications and experience of the successful candidate

Desired Start Date: December 1, 2020 or as negotiated with the successful candidate

We invite applications for a seven-month part-time (50%) Research Associate position to support the work of the Task Force on Race, Indigeneity and Social Justice within the Office of the Dean at the Faculty of Education at the University of British Columbia (UBC). The successful applicant will work under the supervision of the co-chairs of the Task Force on Race, Indigeneity, and Social Justice, Drs. Jan Hare and Marianne McTavish. The position will primarily involve developing and implementing project questionnaires, developing and facilitating focus groups and interviews, collecting and analyzing data from both quantitative and qualitative methods, as well as writing a final report with recommendations based on that data.

Candidates must hold a doctoral degree in a relevant domain of social justice research. Sound knowledge of qualitative and quantitative research methods will be critical for this position. The successful applicant will also possess strong interpersonal, leadership, writing, and organizational skills.

The salary is $22,000 to $35,000 CDN for a period of seven months, part-time, plus eligible benefits. The work will be based out of UBC Vancouver. Given the COVID-19 pandemic, working remotely will be required; however, the successful candidate must physically reside in Canada in order to be eligible for this appointment.

Please address informal enquiries to Dr. Jan Hare or Dr. Marianne McTavish.

Although applications will be accepted until the position is filled, applications will be reviewed starting November 25, 2020. Interested applicants are asked to send a letter of application to Michael Wilkinson outlining: (i) their interest in the position, including relevant expertise and experience; (ii) a copy of their curriculum vitae; (iii) up to two publications or reports that best reflect your knowledge and writing; and (iv) email contact information for three references.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the British Columbia Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.
